“Cerebrum were brought in at the earliest planning stage of the project. This proved extremely valuable in providing expert advice at the ground level.

Delivering the project on time and within budget Cerebrum proved to be extremely professional and reliable in their approach and final solution.”

- Andrew Robinson,
ACMI

Working hand-in-hand with ACMI's staff, Cerebrum helped plan, build and deliver the website for the popular 2004 Australian Culture Now exhibition at Federation Square.

Cerebrum used ACMI's designs to build HTML and Flash® versions of the site - using a custom designed content management system to allow transparent editing of both versions instantaneously.
