DISCURIO

"We have developed a very strong relationship with Cerebrum to the point where we can trust them entirely with technological issues relating to our business."

- Max Robenstone,
Discurio

Cerebrum completely overhauled the Point of Sale computer network for this Melbourne music retail icon to eliminate the time and expense being wasted on daily PC administration. Working to a tight budget and within the confines of a busy retail environment, Cerebrum stabilised and streamlined all aspects of Discurio's technical infrastructure to give staff more time to concentrate on running the music business.
