

TYPO3 Integration

Client: ICLEI Australia & New Zealand

“Cerebrum successfully navigated this project around complex international project relationships and an extremely tight project deadline.

Apart from their obvious depth and breadth of systems knowledge, I was particularly impressed at Cerebrum's project management and communication focus - aspects often lacking in systems development projects.”

- Nick Fahey,
Information Systems
Manager, ICLEI-A/NZ

To meet an extremely tight deadline, Cerebrum was able to turn the traditional website creation process upside down using TYPO3 – allowing authors to upload content well before designs were complete and enabling designers to change the look and feel just a day before the site went live. The end result gave ICLEI-A/NZ control of its local content while being seamlessly integrated into the global website.
